UNLEARNING

THE INTERNET:

a zine fest about media + culture

Monday, April 1st
10:15 - 11:15 am
CLE A127 | UVic

Join over 100 undergraduate students at the University of Victoria as they share their zines about how to unlearn the internet. Topics include interactive fiction, gender and computing, digital labour, attention economics, designing for consent, cultural histories of technologies, algorithmic accountability, speculative thinking, and more. Feel free to come and go during the hour.

Organized by the Department of English.

Questions? Email Jentery Sayers at jentery@uvic.ca.